West Lothian CHCP Commissioning Strategy 2011 – 2021

Foreword

West Lothian Community Health and Care Partnership (CHCP) commissions a wide range of health and social care services from the public, private and voluntary sectors to meet the needs and outcomes of people living in West Lothian. Our vision is to commission high quality services which meet best value principles while at the same time being person centred meeting the needs and aspirations of individuals and their local communities.

Joint strategic commissioning is a fundamental component of meeting this vision through ensuring that we commission services using a longer term strategic planning approach. This approach will include joint working with strategic partners, positive engagement with providers and effective involvement and consultation with service users and their carers.

In West Lothian health and social care services have been brought together through the West Lothian CHCP, a partnership between West Lothian Council and NHS Lothian. Therefore, West Lothian CHCP provides the high level leadership and governance arrangements required for effective joint strategic commissioning. This approach is consistent with the Scottish Government's aspiration of greater integration of health and social care service delivery.

This document provides an overarching commissioning strategy for West Lothian CHCP for the 10 year period 2011 - 2021. It outlines our vision and principles in relation to the commissioning of health and social care services as well as providing a strategic commissioning framework to ensure a consistent and coherent approach is implemented.

A key component of the strategic commissioning framework is the development of joint care group CHCP commissioning plans which will outline our commissioning intentions for the next 3 years. Service users, carers and providers within the public, private and voluntary sectors will be engaged and consulted as part of the development and implementation of the commissioning plans.

Jim Forrest
Director West Lothian CHCP

Vision Statement

Working jointly with strategic partners and through involving service users and their carers, West Lothian Community Health and Care Partnership's overall vision is to commission a range of high quality health and social care services to meet the needs and outcomes of the people living in West Lothian and the communities which they live in.

To achieve this vision we will:

- Commission services which focus on prevention and early intervention and which enable people to live independently in their own homes where they chose to do so.
- Empower people to live independently through applying the principles of personalisation in the way in which we commission services.
- Undertake appropriate consultation and involvement with service users and their carers to achieve their agreed outcomes when commissioning services.
- Engage positively with providers of health and social care services in the public, voluntary and private sector.
- Adhere to relevant procurement legislation and guidance and ensure that services are commissioned in a way that is fair, transparent and open.
- Ensure that quality, equality and best value principles are embedded through our commissioning processes.

Introduction

West Lothian Community Health and Care Partnership (CHCP) commissions a wide range of health and social care services to achieve the best possible outcomes for people living in West Lothian. When commissioning services public sector organisations must fulfil their statutory duties to achieve best value and ensure that there is a personalised approach when commissioning services to meet individual need. To achieve this involves working closely with strategic partners and colleagues in Health, Housing and Building Services, Education and the Police as well as engaging positively with service users, carers and the voluntary and independent sector.

Joint strategic commissioning of health and social care services is a fundamental component in the effective delivery of services to people living in West Lothian. This is to ensure we have in place a long-term strategic approach to service delivery which is based upon analysis of service users' needs and a good understanding of the capacity of providers to deliver these services

West Lothian Community Health and Care Partnership (CHCP) is a partnership between West Lothian Council and NHS Lothian which brings together health and social care. This document provides a long term overarching framework for the joint strategic commissioning of health and social care services in West Lothian. It also supports the recommendations of SWIA's inspection report for Social Policy Services in March 2007 for the development of commissioning strategies for each of the main clients groups.

West Lothian CHCP encompasses a wide range of health and social care services including Children and Families, Community Care, Criminal Justice and Health Improvement. In 2010/11 approximately 12,500 adults and older people received at least one care and/or support service in West Lothian and 451 children were being looked after.

West Lothian CHCP Commissioning Principles

To achieve our vision and the best possible outcomes for people living in West Lothian who are assessed as needing a health or social care service, the following principles have been identified to ensure a longer term strategic approach to commissioning;

- To implement an outcomes based approach to the commissioning of care and support services.
- To commission health and social services which meet the needs and outcomes of individual service users which are personalised and offer choice.
- To commission quality services which achieve best value principles.
- To work with our strategic partners and colleagues within the council and NHS to ensure a strategic approach to the commissioning of joint services.
- To ensure transparency and equality when commissioning service undertake the appropriate stake holder involvement and consultation which includes service users and their carers.
- Positively engage, consult and communicate with the independent and voluntary sectors.
- To ensure that approved procurement procedures are adhered to.

What is Strategic Commissioning

Strategic commissioning provides the basis and rationale for future service development and procurement activity to provide the best outcomes for service users and the communities they live in. It is defined as 'the process of specifying, securing and monitoring services to meet people's needs at a strategic level. This applies to all services whether they are provided by the local authority, NHS, other public agencies, or by the private and voluntary sectors' (Making Ends Meet – a website for managing money in social services).

Guidance on local authorities approach to Commissioning Strategies is outlined in Social Work Inspection (SWIA) Agency Guide to Strategic Commissioning, 2009, and the Joint Improvement Team's (JIT) Social Care Procurement Guidance, 2010. The SWIA guidance encourages local authorities and its strategic partners to work progressively towards an overarching commissioning strategy as their commissioning activities develop with the purpose of promoting coherence and consistency in commissioning across the different care groups. Both SWIA and the JIT guidance emphasis the importance of aligning commissioning strategies with service and community planning and single outcome agreements.

The most commonly used commissioning model is the Institute of Public Care's (IPC) Framework for Joint Commissioning and purchasing of public care services. The IPC Framework is based upon 4 main performance management elements – analyse, plan, do and review with attention to each element required to be balanced. See Appendix 1 for a diagram of the cycle. The commissioning cycle (the outer circle of the diagram) should drive purchasing and contracting activities (the inner circle), and these in turn inform the ongoing development of strategic commissioning.

Joint commissioning is the strategic process where organisations work together to take forward the implementation of strategic commissioning of services. This may involve service areas within a local authority such as education or housing, or strategic partners such as the NHS or the police.

The development of care group strategic commissioning plans are a key principle of the cyclical model. Commissioning plans are required to identify the priority groups within each social care client group, take account of geographical considerations and equality issues and also cover the promotion of health and well being as well as other service areas required such as housing and support.

Purpose of the Commissioning Strategy

The aim of this overarching commissioning strategy is to create a consistent and coherent approach to the commissioning, procurement and contract monitoring of service provision across West Lothian CHCP. The strategy will outline the CHCP's overall vision and approach to strategic commissioning over the next 10 years. It will provide the links to the key commissioning processes and other fundamental components including strategic and financial planning, service development and assessment/case management through the provision of a strategic commissioning framework.

The key purposes of the commissioning strategy are;

- To provide an overarching statement of the vision for CHCP services in the future and to identify the principles to be followed when commissioning health and social care services to meet the needs of people living in West Lothian.
- To provide a joint strategic commissioning framework for CHCP health and social care services.
- To outline our strategic approach to commissioning through the development of joint client group commissioning plans to identify our future commissioning intentions.
- To outline the links and approach to joint commissioning through partnership working with strategic partners including Health, Housing, Education and the Police.
- To provide a structure for procurement procedures which are in line with the relevant governance processes for the CHCP.
- To outline the approach and processes to link strategic and financial planning with assessment and case management.
- To provide a structure in relation to contract management and performance monitoring.

Legal and Regulatory

The commissioning of health and social care services needs to be implemented within the context of a wide range of Scottish and European legislation including local government legislation, social work legislation, housing legislation, procurement law, Human Rights and Equalities legislation and regulations around the application of the Transfer of Undertakings (TUPE). There are also future legislative proposals which will impact on the commissioning of care and support services. For example, consultation on the Self Directed (Scotland) Support Bill is in the process of being finalised with the legislation hopefully being passed through the Scottish Parliament in 2011/12.

The main areas of legislation and regulation are as follows

- Social Work (Scotland) Act 1968
- The Regulation of Care (Scotland) Act 2001 and the Public Services Reform Act 2010
- Housing (Scotland) Act 2001
- The Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, European Procurement Directives
- Local Government in Scotland Act 2004 – local authorities have a statutory duty to secure best value in the performance of their functions.
- The European Convention of Human Rights, The Human Rights Act 1998 and the Scotland Act 1998
- The Equality Act 2010
- The Transfer of Undertakings (Protection of Employment) (TUPE) Regulations 2006.

National Policy Context

Scottish Government's Strategic Planning

The commissioning of health and social care services to meet the outcomes of individual services users and local communities contribute towards the Scottish Government's overall strategic objectives. 15 high level outcomes summarise what the government wants to achieve over the next 10 years and 45 more specific indicators have been developed as the key benchmarks which progress measures.

Local authorities and Community Planning Partnerships are required to produce Single Outcome Agreements for their local areas based around the delivery of the Scottish Government's five strategic objectives of WEALTHIER and FAIRER, SMARTER, HEALTHIER, SAFER AND STRONGER and GREENER. These can be found at <http://www.scotland.gov.uk/topics/Govt/LocalGovernment/SOA>.

The relevant national outcomes which this commissioning strategy should be aligned with are as follows

Table 1 National Outcomes

Outcome Number	National Outcome
4	Our young people are successful learners, confident individuals, effective contributors and responsible citizens
5	Our children have the best start in life and are ready to succeed
6	We live longer, healthier lives
7	We have tackled the significant inequalities in Scottish society
8	We have improved the life chances for children, young people and families at risk
11	We have strong, resilient and supportive communities where people take responsibility for their own actions and how they affect others

Health, Social Care and Other Relevant Policy Direction

The guidance issued jointly by the Scottish Government and COSLA in 2010 on the Procurement of Care and Support Services provides a comprehensive overview on social care policy, procurement policy and other relevant national policy to be considered in the commissioning of services by Social Policy. Appendix 2 provides further information on these, but some of the key policies are provided below.

Changing Lives Report: This sets out the Scottish Government's vision of more personalised services based upon enabling and building the capacity of individuals, families and communities to exercise more choice and control. The main message from the report was that more of the same will not do in the provision of social work services and that a greater focus on prevention and early interventions was required (Report of the 21st Century Review of Social Work 'Changing Lives' Scottish Executive 2006). The Scottish Government has subsequently published a paper which provides guidance on a personalised approach to the commissioning of services. This reflects a wider public sector approach to personalisation through outcomes based commissioning (Personalisation: A Shared Understanding Commissioning for Personalisation Scottish Government 2009).

The Christie Commission: The Commission was established in November 2010 to develop recommendations for the future delivery of public sector services. The Commission completed its findings and its recommendations were report in June 2011 <http://www.scotland.gov.uk/Publications/2011/06/27154527/0>. The report identifies that there is a need to reform the delivery of public services to meet future challenges. The priorities identified to take forward this process of reform include:

- Recognising that effective services must be designed with and for people and communities
- Working closely with individuals and communities to understand their needs, maximise talents and resources, support self reliance and build resilience.
- Prioritising prevention measures to reduce demand and lessen inequalities.
- Driving continuing reform across all public services based on outcomes, improved performance and cost reduction.
- Implementing better long-term strategic planning.

National Strategy and Proposed Legislation on Self Directed Support (SDS): A national strategy on SDS has been developed to assist taking forward the personalisation of care and support services in Scotland. Although the outcome of the SDS (Scotland) Bill consultation process is being finalised it is likely that the proposed Bill will have a significant impact on the commissioning and contracting of services by West Lothian CHCP as an individual service user will be able to inform local authorities which services they want contracted on their behalf using their 'Individual Budget'.

Shifting the Balance Of Care: The Reshaping Care For Older People's Programme outlines the Scottish Government's vision and outcomes required for older people service in Scotland over the next 10 years. The main policy goal of the Scottish Government is to 'optimise the independence and wellbeing of older people at home or in a homely setting'. The programme recognises older people as an asset and the significant role they play in care and supporting other older and vulnerable people. This will involve a substantial shift in the focus of care from institutional settings to support and care at home. The key outcomes which are to be achieved by 2021 to enable this shift and which need to be aligned within this overarching commissioning strategy are outlined in Reshaping Care for Older People: A Programme for Change 2011-2021.

Getting it Right for Every Child: Getting it Right for Every Child: Proposals for Action outlined a vision for children's services which are accessible, high quality, individualised and accountable to communities and which promote safety and strengthen family and community capacity.

National Eligibility Criteria: The National Eligibility Criteria for personal care services are in place to provide a common standard eligibility criteria for older people which categorises the needs of individuals and which is applied by all Scottish local authorities.

West Lothian Strategic Framework

West Lothian Community Planning, SOA and Lifestages Model

West Lothian Community Planning Partnership (CPP) is fully supportive of an outcomes based planning model and has consistently reviewed and revised its approach to West Lothian's SOA since its inception in 2008. The focus of early intervention is at the core of West Lothian's CPP planning and the 5 lifestages which are West Lothian CCP's ultimate goal are embedded through West Lothian's SOA.

West Lothian's SOA sets out the outcomes wanted for West Lothian and is agreed between the Scottish Government and West Lothian's Community Planning Partnership to achieve the 5 national strategic objectives. The 15 national outcomes within the SOA are organised around the 4 Community Plan themes of Community Safety, Core Values, Economic and Health and Wellbeing. West Lothian has finalised its 4th SOA for 2011/12 which builds on previous SOA since its inception in March 2008 and seeks to take account of the current economic climate.

During 2010/11 West Lothian CPP has further defined its approach to the SOA using the lifestages as a framework for demonstrating change. The lifestages outcome is a strategic programme of change led by WLC working across the community planning partnership. The main priorities of the lifestages framework are:

- Targeting service to reduce inequalities
- Shifting resource upstream to deliver preventative services
- Ensuring that we obtain maximum impact from our expenditure.

The five longer term lifestages outcomes are;

1. Early Years - Parents/carers are responsive to their children's developmental needs. Children and ready to start school.
2. School Age - Everyone's life chances are maximised (by improving their educational attainment) to become successful learners, confident individuals, responsible citizens and effective contributors.
3. Young People in Transition - Our young people are successful learners, confident individuals, responsible citizens and effective contributors and have a positive destination
4. Working Age - Every adult has the skills and ability to secure and sustain employment.
5. Older People - Older people live longer healthier more independent and fulfilling lives within a supportive community and continue to learn and develop.

Table 2 below identifies the planning outcomes which should be aligned with the West Lothian CHCP Commissioning Strategy and how these are linked with the Community Planning themes and Lifestages outcomes.

Table 2 West Lothian Planning Outcomes

Local Outcome	Community Plan Theme	Lifestage
4. Our young people are successful learners, confident individuals, effective contributors and responsible citizens.	Economic	Young People in transition
5. Our children and have the best start in life and are ready to succeed.	Health and Wellbeing	Early Years
6. We live longer and healthier lives.	Health and Wellbeing	Older people
7. We have tackled the significant inequalities in West Lothian Society	Health and Wellbeing	All
8. We have improved the life chances for people at risk	Health and Wellbeing and Community Safety	All
9. We live our lives free from crime, disorder and danger	Community Safety	All

Health and Social Care Strategic Plans

Following on from an extensive consultation process Social Policy Service Statements were finalised in 2009 and were aligned with relevant service area strategies including the Joint Learning Disability Strategy, The Joint Mental Health Plan, The Joint Physical and Complex Disability Strategy, the Integrated Children's Plan, Older People's Capacity Plan 2006 – 2016, West Lothian Change Plan for Older People, West Lothian's Local Housing Strategy and West Lothian's Homelessness Strategy 2008 – 2011.

The plans were developed for each of the client groups including Children and Families, Learning Disabilities, Health Improvement Team, Physical Disabilities, Criminal Justice, Older People, Dementia and mental health and provide information on current services and future service direction. Their purpose is to assist and guide Social Policy planning and service developments process over a 3 year period 2009 – 2012.

West Lothian Population Profile

West Lothian has a population of about 171,040 and is the youngest population in Scotland. The projected population for West Lothian is 196,000 by 2024 which is the fastest growing area in Scotland. By 2033 this is predicted to rise to 208,364 (ref: West Lothian a Profile, West Lothian Community Planning Partnership 2011). Figure 1 below illustrates the significant growth in West Lothian's population of 22.9% when compared to Scotland as a whole of 7.3% between 2008 - 2033.

Using the mid-year estimates for 2009, West Lothian's population of 171,040 is relatively young in comparison with other local authorities. It has a higher proportion of under 16s (22%) than any comparator local authority and higher than the Scottish average of 16%. The proportion of people in West Lothian who are of working age is the same as the Scottish average of 66%. West Lothian's proportion of people aged over 65 years, at 12%, is significantly lower than the Scottish average of 16%.

When undertaking a strategic approach to the commissioning of health and social care services analysis of population projections by age band will need to be undertaken. Figures 2 compares the projected growth by age group in West Lothian and Scotland for the period 2008 – 2033 and shows that West Lothian's population is expected to grow across all age groups:

- Under 15s by 16.2%
- Adults of working age by 15.9%
- People of pensionable age by 59.5%

The rate of increase in the older people's age group in West Lothian needs to be highlighted in the context of strategic commissioning. From 2008 – 2033, the number of 65 – 74 year olds will increase by 80% in West Lothian, compared to a 48% increase in Scotland. The number of 75+ year olds will increase by 151% in West Lothian compared to 84% in Scotland.

Key facts about West Lothian population

- West Lothian's older population is expected to grow rapidly over the next two decades.
- It is estimated that 11% of children in West Lothian are living in severe poverty.
- Alcohol-related illness and smoking are higher in West Lothian than the Scottish average.
- Over half of West Lothian's Citizens Panel members say that they had given some form of unpaid help in 2010/11.
- Youth unemployment in West Lothian is higher than the Scottish average.
- There were 2070 domestic abuse incidents in 2010 which is an increase of 4% compared to the average for the three previous years.
- There has been a slight increase (0.45%) in the number of homeless applications since 2008/09 to 2010/11. At 46% West Lothian has a higher percentage of under 25 years of age homeless applicants compared to the Scottish average of 39%.

Strategic Commissioning Framework

To take forward a CHCP strategic approach to the commissioning of health and social care services, SWIA's Guide to Strategic Planning and the Institute of Public Care's (IPC) Commissioning Framework will be followed (see Appendix 1).

This document provides the overarching West Lothian CHCP Commissioning Strategy for the 10 year period 2011 – 2021 and defines the strategic commissioning framework as a cyclical process under the 4 themes of, ANALYSE, PLAN, DO and REVIEW. The effectiveness of our joint strategic approach to commissioning will be evaluated using the 4 themes of the commissioning cycle as identified in Appendix 3.

Analyse

Analysis is one of the most important factors in effective commissioning. Best practice involves joint analysis being undertaken with strategic partners and in consultation with providers. A key element of overall analysis will be information obtained from a wide range of service users and their carers about their needs, preferences and aspirations and about the outcomes they want now and in the future. Essential features of the analysis theme are that there is;

- A shared understanding of the outcomes we wish to achieve in the future
- A comprehensive assessment of needs, preferences and intended outcomes
- Mapping and reviewing of existing service provision to inform future commissioning
- A full analysis of the range of options for achieving agreed outcomes for the care group or sub care group has been undertaken with strategic partners.
- A sound analysis of the resources needed to support future commissioning
- The risks involved in implementing change or continuing with existing models and levels of service have been identified.

Plan

Planning is the second stage in the strategic commissioning cycle and should be informed by the findings of the analysis theme above. At this stage we need to ensure strong strategic partnerships are in place and that strategic commissioning plans are developed for the relevant health and social care care groups.

To achieve this strategic CHCP Care Group Commissioning Plans will be developed for the period Dec 2011 - Dec 2014 and will provide the link between the strategic commissioning processes and strategic plans such as:

- Joint Learning Disability Strategy
- The Joint Mental Health Plan
- Joint Physical and Complex Disability Strategy
- Integrated Children's Plan
- Older People's Capacity Plan 2006 – 2016
- West Lothian Reshaping Care for Older People Plan
- West Lothian's Local Housing Strategy and West Lothian's Homelessness Strategy 2008 – 2011 Living well and dying Well (2005)

The following care groups will have commissioning plans, with sub groups identified within each plan where appropriate:

- Children and Families
- Mental Health
- Learning Disabilities
- Older People
- Dementia
- Physical Disabilities
- Substance Misuse
- Criminal Justice
- Complex Health and Social Care needs

Commissioning plans need to be evidence based with links to a wide range of information and analysis. They will set out the services to be commissioned over the next 3 years, the available finances, and show how purchasing intentions will achieve value for money. Appendix 4 gives a summary of the content to be provided within each of the CHCP Commissioning Plans.

Do

The third stage of the strategic commissioning cycle involves implementation of the care group commissioning plans to achieve the agreed objectives and outcomes. To undertake this theme effectively will involve putting in place effective shorter term delivery plans based on SMART objectives.

Delivery Plans may include developing or procuring new services to meet the outcomes which people want and/or need, or reshaping or ceasing existing services which no longer meet the strategic outcomes. They will also outline the contracting mechanisms to be used to deliver strategic objectives and outcomes and how service users and their carers will be involved.

This stage of the commissioning cycle will require close working with relevant departments such as Legal, Finance and Corporate Procurement as well as providers to develop or stimulate the market where necessary. Equality Impact Assessments will also need to be undertaken and completed for any proposed changes.

Progress with the development and implementation of care group commissioning plans will be reported to West Lothian CHCP Board.

Review

The final stage of the commissioning cycle outlined in Appendix 1 is Review. This stage is about ensuring that we have an evidence based approach to monitoring and implementing client group CHCP Commissioning Plans and related delivery plans. To ensure this stage of the commissioning cycle is delivered effectively we will;

- Undertake a review of progress of the overarching CHCP Commissioning Strategy every three years to ensure it is still relevant in relation to any change
- Undertake evidence based approach to monitoring the implementation of client group CHCP Commissioning Plans and related Delivery Plans.

- Implement a systematic approach to contract monitoring and the review of services which is linked to a risk assessment approach to contract monitoring.
- Review annually the impact of our client group CHCP Commissioning Plans and make any necessary adjustments.

Outcomes Based Commissioning

West Lothian' CHCP's aim is to commissioning services which deliver the best outcomes at both a strategic and individual level and our outcomes based approach to commissioning is evident at both levels.

At a strategic level the care group commissioning plans will agree the outcomes to be achieved through the commissioning of services which are aligned with the aims of West Lothian's Single Outcome Agreement and Lifestages Model identified within Section 10 above.

Alongside the Commissioning Plans, Delivery Plans will also outline our approach to achieving these outcomes which may be through the de-commissioning of services, service re-design or the commissioning of new services. Health and social care contracts are being developed to have a more outcomes based approach to service delivery and performance monitoring and Commissioning Plans will identify the most appropriate contracting models. Where appropriate consideration will be given to providing services on a co-production basis (JIT Community Capacity and Coproduction Workstream: A Brief for COSLA May 2011)

Health and social care practice in West Lothian is underpinned by an assessments and a care management approach focused on achieving the desired outcomes of service users and their carers. Performance locally will be measured through the Community Care Outcomes Framework and also through the development of 'Talking Points' a personal outcomes approach.

Joint Commissioning

West Lothian CHCP works with a number of partner agencies including, Housing and Building Services, the Police and Education to maximise the delivery of health of social care services to people living in West Lothian. Joint commissioning has been undertaken with our colleagues in Mid Lothian, East Lothian and the Borders on the implementation of a Joint Contract for Frozen Meal Provision and a Framework Agreement for the Procurement of Placements in Independent Schools.

Our strategic partners will play a vital role in the development and implementation of the care group commissioning plans to ensure that we take a strategic joint approach to the commissioning of health and social care services.

Personalisation and Choice

The principles of personalisation and individual choice need to be embedded within our strategic approach to the commissioning of health and social care services.

A definition of personalisation is that 'it enables the individual alone, or in groups, to find the right solutions for them and to participate in the delivery of service. From being a recipient of services, citizens can become actively involved in selecting and re-shaping the services they receive'.

(<http://www.knowledge.scot.nhs.uk/media/CLT/ResourceUploads/9087/PersonalisationPapers.pdf>)

Personalisation is important both in the case of someone taking responsibility for the payment of their own service such as through Self Directed Support, or if they are accessing services commissioned through West Lothian CHCP or on their behalf.

The key features of commissioning for personalised services therefore relates to people being able to access individual budgets and/or choose between options. However, commissioning for personalisation has a broader role ensuring that a range of services are available with the required flexibility to support people's choices as well as demonstrating best value.

Therefore to ensure our commissioning approach is personalised we will

- Involve and consult service users and their carers on their views and aspirations in the planning and development of services.
- Through the development of commissioning plans for care groups provide clear strategic direction for commissioning which is outcome focused and based on future needs.
- Ensure the availability of flexible budgets
- Translate the principles of personalisation within service specifications.
- Develop more flexible procurement and contracting approaches which take account of personalisation.

Involvement and Engagement

West Lothian CHCP is committed to taking an inclusive approach to the involvement of services users, their carers and key stakeholder in the care group commissioning plan process.

We will directly or indirectly elicit views from key stakeholders to inform the services to be commissioned. This approach includes providers in the independent and voluntary sector and will build on current arrangements within West Lothian CHCP.

Care Group Commissioning Plans will outline how service users and carers are involved and consulted, defining care group outcomes which reflects the needs, preferences and aspirations and of current and future service users.

Equalities

West Lothian CHCP must ensure equality of access to all health and social care services and ensure that its statutory duties required under the Equalities Act 2010 are enforced to ensure that we are not unintentionally discriminating against specific groups of service users when developing and implementing care group commissioning plans.

Therefore we will equality impact assess the Care Group Commissioning Plans as part of the development process and also equality impact assess the associated delivery plans.

Procurement and Contract Monitoring

The procurement and contract monitoring of care and support services is a fundamental component within the commissioning cycle outlined in Appendix 1. The strategic commissioning cycle (the outer circle in the diagram) should provide a clear rationale for the purchasing and contracting activities which in turn should inform the ongoing development of strategic commissioning. (SWIA: Guide to Strategic Commissioning Sept 2009).

The Scottish Governments Guidance on the Procurement of Care and Support Services Sept 2010 defines procurements as:

“The process by which public bodies purchase goods, services and works from third parties. It is not only the method of securing services; other options include the provision of services in-house, shared services arrangements or grant funding. Procurement is one element of the commissioning process”

In 2010/11 the Community Care Procurement Procedures were reviewed on the basis of developing procurement procedures to cover all care and support services purchased by Social Policy. This was to ensure a consistent approach to the procurement of services across Social Policy. The Social Policy Procurement Procedures were agreed by the Council Executive in April 2011 and provide an overarching framework to commissioning and contracting staff within Social Policy. A summary of the Social Policy Procurement Procedures can be found at Appendix 5.

The procedures also outline the governance process in relation to the council's standing orders of delegated authority to the Head of Social Policy for the procurement of Part B services due to their specialist and complex nature. In West Lothian Social Policy procurement and contract decisions are undertaken through the Social Policy Contract's Advisory Group which meets on a 6 weekly basis and has representation from the council's legal services, central procurement team as well as senior managers and commissioning and contracting staff from Social Policy. The remit of the Contracts Advisory Group is to advice the Head of Social Policy in

- Exercising delegated powers in relation to the procurement, commissioning and monitoring of Care and Support Services;
- Achieving best value for the council in the provision and procurement of Care and Support Services;
- Taking action to promote and enforce compliance by the providers of Care and Support Services with qualitative and quantitative contractual standards;
- Complying with the council's Standing Orders for Contracts and its Procedure for the Procurement of Care and Support Services, approved by the Council Executive in April; and
- Adhering to the statutory regime, domestic and European, and including government guidance, governing the procurement of Care and Support Services.

The council is in the process of finalising a report on the review of procurement arrangements across the council with the main recommendation being to move to a corporate procurement structure employing category management as this embraces the required strategic activity necessary and allows for increased specialism and skills. Commissioning and contracting professionals specialising in care and support services are to remain within Social Policy and will not form part of the Corporate Procurement Team. However, improved joint working will be developed through the employment of Category Manager within the Corporate Procurement Team for Social Work and Education.

Financial Context

The revenue budget for the financial year 2011/12 allocated for the commissioning of health and social care services in West Lothian is approximately £88,510million. Table 3 below provides a breakdown of this total budget into individual care groups and in-house and purchased services.

Table 3: Care Group Funding Levels – Budget Information 2011/12

Care Group	In House (£'000)	Purchased (£'000)	TOTALS (£'000s)

Review of West Lothian CHCP Commissioning Strategy

West Lothian CHCP will incorporate strategic commissioning activity and decision making within existing CHCP structures.

The overarching commissioning strategy will be reviewed every 3 years to take account of any changing conditions such as national policy direction, legislation and local strategic planning. The outcome and recommendations of the review will be reported to West Lothian CHCP's Board.

Care Group Commissioning Plans will be reported to West Lothian CHCP Board with approval sought as required by the governance arrangements of West Lothian Council and NHS Lothian. Commissioning plans will be reviewed annually with any changes to be reported back to West Lothian CHCP Board.

National Strategy on Self-Directed Support

A National Strategy on Self-Directed Support has been developed to take forward the personalisation of health and social care services in Scotland. Self-directed support is targeted at empowering people and putting the principles of independent living into practice. It enables individuals to direct the care or support they need to live more independently at home and can replace or complement services arranged by their local authority. Proposals for legislation on self-directed support³ are currently in development.

Caring Together: The Carers Strategy for Scotland 2010 – 2015:

Caring Together: The Carers Strategy for Scotland 2010 – 2015 recognises the significant contribution made by Scotland's unpaid carers. The Strategy builds on progress since the publication of the Government's response to the Care 21 Report: The Future of Unpaid Care in Scotland. It sets out ten key actions to improve support to carers over the next five years. The focus is on improved identification of carers, assessment, information and advice, health and well-being, carer support, participation and partnership.

Getting it Right for Young Carers: The Young Carers Strategy for Scotland 2010 – 2015

Getting it Right for Young Carers: The Young Carers Strategy for Scotland 2010 - 2015 underlines the Scottish Government's commitment to ensuring that young carers are relieved of inappropriate caring roles and are supported to be children and young people first and foremost. It endorses an approach which organises services around the child or young person so that all the needs of the child or young person will be identified and addressed, including the impact of caring on their health, well-being and education.

Dementia Strategy

Scotland's National Dementia Strategy sets out the Scottish Government's vision and key actions to transform dementia care and treatment in Scotland. West Lothian CHCP has signed up to the Charter of Rights for People with Dementia and their Carers in Scotland. The services which we undertake to commission as well as our approach to the commissioning process will seek to respect these rights in their entirety. These standards will be instrumental in delivering the Dementia Strategy as well as people's rights as defined within the Charter. Services commissioned by West Lothian CHCP will be expected to deliver or be working towards delivering these standards.

Reshaping Care for Older People

The Reshaping Care for Older People programme⁷ has been established to examine how people who need care can continue to live full and positive lives and be less dependent on the formal care system and to develop options for the funding of care. The programme is reinforcing and promoting the move to more personalised care delivered through new models such as co-production, care co-operatives and community businesses.

Changing Lives: Report of the 21st Century Social Work Review

The Changing Lives report proposed: building capacity for personalisation; earlier intervention; whole system approaches; effective use of the mixed economy of care; effective management and leadership, including citizen leadership; performance improvement and agreed outcomes; and a structured approach to re-designing services and delivering change.

National Care Standards

Scottish Ministers developed the National Care Standards⁹ to ensure the same high standards in all registered care services. The Standards explain what people can expect from any social care and support service, written from the point of view of the person using the service. There are 6 main principles behind the Standards: dignity; privacy; choice; safety; realising potential; and equality and diversity.

Getting it Right for Every Child: Proposals for Action

Getting it Right for Every Child: Proposals for Action outlined a vision for children's services which are accessible, high quality, individualised and accountable to communities and which promote safety and strengthen family and community capacity.

Community Care Outcomes Framework

The Community Care Outcomes Framework has performance measures, grouped into 6 inter-related themes: user satisfaction; faster access; support for carers; quality of assessment and care planning; identifying those at risk; and moving services closer to users/patients.

Public Procurement Reform Programme

The Public Procurement Reform Programme¹² was established in 2006 following publication of the Review of Public Procurement in Scotland (McClelland Report). The Reform Programme has focussed on: achieving value for money through effective competition; raising professional standards and public bodies' procurement capabilities; reducing burdens on suppliers and service providers and promoting access to public sector contracts; and encouraging collaborative working across organisations and sectors.

Scottish Procurement Policy Handbook

The Scottish Procurement Policy Handbook¹⁴ provides an overarching statement of the fundamental rules, behaviours and standards applicable to public procurement activity in Scotland. It describes the key roles and responsibilities in relation to the procurement function and outlines the governance and accountability arrangements that organisations should have in place, as well as addressing key policy issues.

Scottish Procurement Policy Notes (SPPNs) and guidance

The Scottish Procurement Directorate (SPD) within the Scottish Government is responsible for developing guidance on current procurement policy issues to supplement the Policy Handbook. Guidance and Policy Notes are published on SPD's website:

Procurement Centres of Expertise

There are currently seven procurement centres of expertise in Scotland. Scotland Excel is the centre of expertise for local authorities; National Procurement, NHS National Services Scotland is the centre of expertise for all NHS Scotland organisations. In addition to their role in collaborative procurement, the centres of expertise are responsible for representing sector specific interests in the development of national policy and for the development and dissemination of policy guidance on issues unique to their sector.

Human Rights policy

The Scottish Government is committed to creating a human rights culture. All Scottish legislation must be compliant with the European Convention on Human Rights. Public bodies have an obligation to respect the Convention rights. This means that they must understand the rights and take them into account in their day-to-day work, when devising new policies or procedures, delivering a service directly to the public or procuring services from a third party. Public bodies which procure care and support services can meet the requirements of human rights policy and law by taking the necessary steps to ensure that all procurements have a service user focus.

Equality policy

Everyone should expect to be treated with respect, to be treated fairly and to have the opportunity to reach their potential. The Scottish Government and public bodies across Scotland are working to promote equality and to ensure that no-one is denied opportunities or disadvantaged through discrimination, prejudice or exclusion due to factors such as race, gender, gender identity, disability, sexual orientation, religion or belief, or age. This is essential in achieving a just and inclusive Scotland and successfully delivering the Scottish Government's National Outcomes.

Statutory guidance to local authorities on contracting

The Scottish Ministers have issued guidance to local authorities under section 52 of the Local Government in Scotland Act 2003 on contracting. The guidance applies to any contract which involves a transfer of staff from the local authority to the service provider. It also applies to any procurement in which staff which originally transferred from the local authority as a result of an outsourcing transfer to a new provider. The guidance underlines the need for consultation with the trade unions in these situations.

Third Sector Statement

The Joint Statement¹⁶ by the Scottish Government, COSLA, the Scottish branch of the Society of Local Authority Chief Executives & Senior Managers (SOLACE (Scotland)) and the Scottish Council for Voluntary Organisations (SCVO) sets out the terms of a relationship in which local authorities and the Scottish Government will value the third sector as an integral part of shaping and delivering better services for Scotland's people and will be flexible in their approach to partnership working and funding. The third sector will be committed to working with local government to deliver efficiencies, promote best value and achieve improved outcomes for local communities.

Appendix 3 Evaluation of strategic commissioning

Theme	Description
Theme 1: Analyse	This theme is about drawing meaningful conclusions from available data and from projections, including data from people about their needs, preferences and the extent to which the service is delivering intended outcomes. Analysis is one of the most important activities in the commissioning cycle. Poor analysis of past or future trends will result in flawed commissioning decisions and wasted resources.
Theme 2: Plan	This theme is about working with strategic partners to make short, medium and long term decisions about how services need to change and how this will happen. Planning involves being clear about the options available to you in terms of investment and service redesign, and consulting on how to achieve the best outcomes and best value. Plans should result in SMART commissioning strategies.
Theme 3: Do	This theme is about implementation of your strategic commissioning plans. It involves maintaining a strategic overview of what you are trying to achieve, as well as effectively commissioning / decommissioning services, and implementing sound procurement arrangements.
Theme 4: Review	This theme is about taking an evidence based approach to monitoring and reviewing progress, and making adjustments in the light of changing circumstances. You will need to review whether you are achieving the objectives of your commissioning strategy, as well as the effectiveness of procurement arrangements. Feedback from people who use services and their carers, and other strategic partners is an essential element of the evidence you need to review your progress.
